

Highlights® magazine

Designed for children ready to read on their own, Highlights is an excellent choice for independent readers. The differentiated content ensures that every student will find something that he or she can read and wants to read. The engaging, short stories and nonfiction articles in Highlights magazine will support your literacy, science, and social studies goals.

Each monthly issue:

- Supports development of critical thinking skills with fiction, nonfiction, puzzles, “BrainPlay,” and more;
- Motivates children to write and submit their work for possible publication (“Your Own Pages,” “Dear Highlights,” etc.);
- Provides texts with differing reading levels making the content suitable for individualized instruction;
- Offers short, engaging content suitable for small-group reading and discussion, appropriate for Title I programs;
- Includes monthly features such as “Dear Highlights” and “Goofus and Gallant®” that prompt discussions about social/emotional development;
- Engages students during independent reading time with stories, poems, non-fiction articles, jokes, riddles, puzzles, and more.

Highlights is available in a monthly subscription format. The following pricing per student applies with a minimum of 15 subscriptions going to a single delivery address:
